

2 PARTIES PLEASED AT IOWA ELECTION

DEMOCRATS SUCCESSFUL IN ELECTING CANDIDATE BY A SCANT MAJORITY.

REPUBLICANS ARE CHEERED

Increase of Republican Strength and Awful Falling Off in Progressive Vote is Shown.

Chicago Record Herald: Washington, Feb. 11.—The election of a representative in congress from the second Iowa district yesterday is one that affords both democrats and republican managers here material for satisfaction, just as it was found on all sides in the recent special election in West Virginia and in elections in some of the states last November.

Democratic managers are pleased because, from their viewpoint, the election of Mr. Vollmer to succeed the late Representative Pepper of Iowa sustains the administration on the tariff and on its general record to date.

Indorsement of Wilson.
A telegram received at headquarters today from M. J. Wade, Iowa member of the national committee, declared it impossible to convince the second district democrats of danger and that as a result the special election brought out a light vote. The result, however, is declared to be a "splendid indorsement for Wilson and his administration."

Chairman F. B. Woods of the republican congressional committee—Mr. Woods happens to be an Iowa man—gave out a statement in which he said:

"With only ten days in which to make a campaign, without the aid of speakers, the republicans yesterday made remarkable gains in the second congressional district of Iowa. Notwithstanding the urgent appeal of President Wilson and with speakers like Champ Clark and Senator Reed to stand by the democratic administration, there was a significant democratic loss compared with last year of 6,000, a bull moose loss of 9,000 and a republican gain of 2,300. The result established two things; first, the country is dissatisfied with the democratic tariff, and second, the bull moose are returning to the republican fold.

Moose Showing Significant.

Chairman Wood hit the really significant feature of the returns when he asserted that the bull moose are returning to the republican fold. If there is anything nationally significant in the Iowa election it is the showing made by the progressives. It constantly becomes clearer that the party which won second place in the last national election is destined to play third fiddle in the political orchestra of the future unless it has Roosevelt's name to conjure with as a personal candidate. In the presidential election of 1912 the democrats polled 19,371 votes in the second Iowa district, the republicans 8,303 and the progressives 13,602. Mr. Pepper had no opposition for election in 1912.

In yesterday's election, according to the latest returns, the democrats polled 12,285 votes, the republicans 10,435 and the progressives 3,672.

TO DELIVER MESSAGE ON LINCOLN HIGHWAY

VICE PRESIDENT A. R. PARDINGTON WILL SPEAK IN DIXON TOMORROW NIGHT.

EVERYONE SHOULD HEAR HIM

Lincoln Highway Means Much to Dixon and It is Up To Us to Show We Want It Here.

Every man and woman in Dixon who is interested in the welfare of the city should be on hand tomorrow evening when A. R. Pardington, vice president of the Lincoln Highway association, will address a mass meeting at the city hall in Dixon, commencing at 8 o'clock.

There should be no mistaking the importance of the Lincoln highway to Dixon. It means more than we realize now and if it becomes a fact, as it will if boosted properly, it will be something that any town would be glad to give thousands of dollars to get. Dixon must not settle down with the idea that she has secured the Lincoln highway and that is all she has to do. She now has to keep it and to do that she must show some interest and booster spirit. Come to the city hall tomorrow evening and hear what Mr. Pardington has to say. He is a splendid talker and will make an interesting address.

Dixon has been signally and extremely honored by having the Lincoln highway handed to her on a silver platter, so to speak, and it is certainly up to us to turn out tomorrow evening and hear the man from Michigan deliver his message. "Doc" Corkings, vice president for Illinois for the Lincoln Highway association, will also be a feature of the meeting here Thursday evening.

R. N. A. NIGHT.

Tonight will be Royal Neighbors night at the M. W. A. bazaar which is in progress this week at Rosbrook's hall, and the ladies look forward to a large attendance. Slothower's orchestra will furnish the music this evening and tomorrow evening a prize waltz will be a prominent feature.

TO ROCHELLE TONIGHT.

The Modern Woodman drill team will go to Rochelle this evening to attend the dedicatory banquet and dance at the new Woodman hall in that city. The music for the event will be furnished by the Marquette orchestra of this city.

LICENSED TO WED

AMERICAN LEAGUE SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED

BUT FOUR CONFLICTS WITH CHICAGO CUBS DURING THIS SEASON.

(By the Associated Press)
Chicago, Feb. 11.—American league schedule makers, who announced tonight their program for the coming season, awarded Boston, New York, Chicago and Detroit the opening games set for Tuesday, April 14th.

The only four conflicting dates scheduled with the National league will be played in Chicago on Sundays. In the old days conflicts were more frequent, and took place in St. Louis as well as Chicago but the removal of the Sunday ball ban in Detroit and Cleveland has made it possible to lessen them.

EXPLANATION OF INCOME TAX LAW

TREASURY OFFICIALS AT WASHINGTON ISSUE BOOKLET EXPLAINING CLOUDY POINTS.

PENALTY FOR LAW EVASION

Uncle Sam Means to Collect Income Tax Regardless of Persons—Law is Intricate.

(By the Associated Press)

Washington, Feb. 12.—After close study for weeks of the complexities of the income tax law, the treasury officials today issued a 90 page booklet, christened it Regulations No. 33, and sent it forth to collectors of internal revenue in the expectation that it will clear up many of the misunderstandings that have arisen over the country.

It takes 23 pages of the book to set forth the law itself but 60 pages are used in telling how the net income to be taxed is ascertained by the tax payer, when and where the tax must be paid, what penalties will be imposed for non-payment, what exemptions and deductions will be allowed. Many pages are devoted to an explanation of that part of the law imposing a one per cent tax on the income of all corporations which replaces the old corporation tax law.

More Regulations Later.

Although officials are confident the booklet will prove a guide to tax payers which will settle many apparently difficult problems, there will be other regulations in the future when new points are raised. The book does not contain a new set of regulations but is a compilation in compact form of the ones already issued, with explanations of points never before discussed. Under the law, partnerships are not subject to the tax, but the regulations provide that annual profits from a partnership paid to members shall be included in their returns and where such profits are undistributed and unpaid they must be ascertained and included in the individuals return for taxation just the same.

It is made clear for the first time that persons who have a net income of less than $20,000 all derived from investments and upon which the tax has been withheld at its source shall not be required to make any return. Executors and administrators of estates of persons are required to pay the tax on the net income for the part of the year in which the deceased was alive.

Big Penalties.

Where persons taxable refuse to make the proper list or return or makes false return the regulations provide that the proper collector of internal revenue, shall after due notice, make the return for such person and the tax shall be assessed on this return, with a 50 or 100 per cent penalty added. Returns must be verified by oath or affirmation. Returns shall be sent by collectors to the commissioner of internal revenue in Washington by registered mail. Taxes unpaid after June 30 shall bring a penalty of 5 per cent, after ten days' notice and demand by the proper collector, and interest at the rate of one per cent a month from the date due. Returns shall be made to collectors before March 1, every year.

SHOOTS HER BABY; WOMAN INSANE

Mrs. Wenzel Bertat of Chicago Could Not Stand to See Little Girl Suffer.

TRIES TO TAKE OWN LIFE

Ill Health Believed to Have Driven Her Insane—Meets Husband at Door and Tells Him of Her Act.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—Believing her only child's health so impaired that play with other children would be denied, Mrs. Wenzel Bertat of 1507 Larabee street shot and killed the little girl and tried to kill herself.

The child cried weakly. Unable to stand the sound of the tiny voice contrasted with the healthy shouting of other children in the street below, Mrs. Bertat fired two shots into the baby's body and killed her almost instantly.

Then she bathed the child's body, dressed it and placed it on the couch in the parlor. For an hour she worked about the house and then, overcome with remorse, she attempted to kill herself by firing the last shot in the revolver into her head. The bullet glanced, inflicting only a slight flesh wound.

Meets Husband at Door.

Wenzel Vertat, father of the child, came home from work about six o'clock. His wife met him at the door. She beckoned him to the parlor, and in the light reflected from the street lamp below he saw the body of his child.

Then he looked at his wife, noticed that she was wounded and rushed out into the street shouting for help. After neighbors had quieted him Vertat told the story of the tragedy.

The police took the baby's body to an undertaker and placed the mother under arrest. Her wounds were dressed at the German-American hospital. Later she was locked up at the Chicago avenue station.

"Not Like Other Children."

"My baby never was like other children—always ill, and crying much of the time," she said. "Helen started to cry as soon as she awoke and I got ready to bathe her. I placed her in the tub and then listened."

"Out in the street I could hear the voices of other children—real children—playing in the street. Then I looked at my own child, pale and ill."

"I thought of my own life, darkened by illness and sorrow over my only child, and I could not stand it. I got the revolver from the dresser drawer and shot my baby. I was determined then to end my own life as well."

Mrs. Vertat came to America from Germany five years ago. She was married three years ago and lived happily until Helen's birth. Then illness made life almost unbearable, she said. The father was released after being questioned by the police. For nearly two hours all trace of him was lost. When he finally returned home at 10:30 he was dazed and unable to say where he had been. He said his wife had been slightly demented for some time and under the care of a physician.

Hancock, Mich., Feb. 12.—Striking copper miners testified before the congressional investigators that they were compelled to toil under dangerous and unsanitary conditions for wages that barely enabled them to exist. The contract system of pay was condemned by them.

The members of the investigating subcommittee have decided to go to Calumet to investigate the Italian ball disaster, which occurred Christmas eve, when 74 persons died as relating to the deportation of Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, two nights later.

O. N. Hilton, senior counsel for the federation, made the direct charge that the panic was caused by a man who wore a "Citizens' Alliance" button appearing in the doorway of the hall, shouting "Fire! Fire! Everybody rush!"

Denver, Colo., Feb. 12.—John R. Lawson, leader of the Colorado miners in their strike, before the house investigating subcommittee said: "A grand jury is now in session in Las Animas county, gentlemen, that seems very desirous of indicting us. For this reason, unless the committee insists, I'd rather not go very far into this gun business. I will say that there were some guns bought, but not until after the operators had imported machine guns."

Statements were made on the stand by C. H. Newell, a local newspaper editor, that Governor Ammons expressed the opinion that disorders in the strike zone were due primarily to incendiary speeches by "Mother" Jones.

The governor may appear as a voluntary witness before the congressional subcommittee.

WRIGHT FROWNS ON SEA TRIP

Says That Flight Over Ocean Is Impracticable.

Cincinnati, Feb. 12.—"A trans-Atlantic trip in an aeroplane is at the present time impracticable."

"It would be foolhardy for an aviator to try this trip with the engine now used in aeroplanes."

"I will not attempt a trans-Atlantic trip until greater perfection and more stability are acquired for the flying machine."

Thus Orville Wright, one of the pioneer builders of "heavier-than-air" machines, answered the question here as to whether he would enter the lists with other aviators who declare that they will try a trip across the Atlantic ocean in their machines.

"The machines as they are now constructed have not the staying powers required for a voyage of this length, and, under no circumstances will the engines hold out under the continuous strain of such a journey."

Lincoln, Master of Men

Copyright, 1914, by American Press Association.

Wisdom—no school ever taught;
Justice—no court ever knew;
Humble and mighty, God's man, paradox—
Lincoln, the stalwart, the true!
Love beyond power of speech,
Greatness beyond mortal ken,
Truth beyond power of the sages to teach—
Lincoln, master of men.

NO NEWS IS NOT ALWAYS GOOD NEWS, ACCORDING TO A STORY TOLD BY ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

One of the stories persistently attributed to Lincoln was that referring to the brand of General Grant's whisky. That was disowned by Lincoln, who referred to its prototype when George H. Remond, upon being told that General Wolfe, then in command of the English forces in Canada, was mad, that he wished Wolfe would bite some of his other generals.

In the fall of 1861 Lincoln entered the telegraph office where Mr. Bates, who writes these reminiscences in Leslie's Weekly, was employed and asked for news from the front. Manager Wilson replied, "Good news, because none," whereupon Lincoln said, "Ah, my young friend, that rule does not always hold good, for a fisherman does not consider it good luck when he can't get a bite."—David Homer Bates' "Reminiscences of Lincoln."

LINCOLN'S ADDRESS TO THE CITIZENS OF SPRINGFIELD ON LEAVING FOR WASHINGTON.

My friends, no one not in my position can appreciate the sadness I feel at this parting. To this people I owe all that I am. Here I have lived more than a quarter of a century. Here my children were born, and here one of them lies buried. I know not how soon I shall see you again. A duty devolves upon me which is greater, perhaps, than any that has devolved upon any other man since the days of Washington. He never would have succeeded except for the aid of divine Providence, upon which he at all times relied. I feel that I cannot succeed without the same divine aid which sustained him, and upon the same Almighty Being I place my reliance for support and hope you, my friends, will pray that I may receive the divine assistance without which I cannot succeed. Again I bid you all an affectionate farewell.

ECUADORIAN REBS LOSE

Federals Bombard Esmeraldas and Recapture City.

Buildings Set on Fire by the Shells—Fear Felt for Lives of Foreigners and Noncombatants.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Feb. 12.—Esmeraldas, capital of the province of Esmeraldas, which has been in the hands of the revolutionists since December 15, was bombarded by government gunboats and heavy artillery, and, according to the latest advices, was recaptured by the government forces.

The bombardment began late in the afternoon, the attacking federals numbering 3,000 men. Five small gunboats were in the harbor and opened on the city simultaneously with the field artillery.

Shells set fire to the town in several sections and at one time it was in danger of being destroyed.

Preparations for the attack both by land and sea had been under way for several weeks. Federal forces were sent by warships to reinforce those already in the neighborhood of Esmeraldas and all the available gunboats were ordered to the port.

Before the attack began Col. Carlos Concha, the rebel leader, was notified of the government's intention to bombard, but he declined to agree to the fixing of a neutral zone, where non-combatants might be reasonably safe or to permit foreigners to embark on the steamers in the harbor.

While details are lacking, it is known the city was subjected to a heavy fire and considerable fear is felt for the safety of foreign residents and other noncombatants.

Panama, Feb. 12.—Colonel Goethals said that if it was necessary to protect Americans or other foreign residents at Esmeraldas, a small warship could be passed through the canal. He added that he would not, however, recommend the passage of a warship, as it might seriously interfere with the work at Cucaracha slide.

SUIT TO DISSOLVE ROADS

Government Seeks to Compel the Divorcing C. P. & S. P. Roads.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Feb. 12.—The United States government filed a suit in the federal district court to compel the divorcing of the Central Pacific from the Southern Pacific road. The petition alleges that the defendants are restraining and monopolizing trade and commerce in the transportation of persons and property. The Southern Pacific owns the Sunset route operating a joint rail and water service between New York city and Pacific coast terminals. A fleet of ships known as the Atlantic Steamship lines also runs between New York and the gulf ports, giving the road an unbroken line of transportation from New York to the Pacific coast. The Central Pacific owns railroads operating from Utah to San Francisco and lines in California and Oregon.

E. H. SOTHERN IS ENRAGED

Noted Actor Angry Over Separation Reports.

Portland, Ore., Feb. 12.—The stage has lost Julia Marlowe. Shocked by reports published in eastern newspapers regarding the reasons for Miss Marlowe's leaving the company and hurrying home, E. H. Sothern stood in his dressing-room after the performance and shook with indignation as he denied the published stories of a domestic upheaval.

"It's the cruel, the injustice of it all that hurts me so," said Mr. Sothern. "If the people who started those reports knew how that brave little woman has suffered during the last two years, how she kept on with her work solely because she realized how it helped me and how much I wanted her to be with me, I am sure they would not have started such yarns. Now look at this one."

The announcement of the figures was received with loud opposition cheers and shouts of "Resign" directed at the cabinet.

Phidian Art Club

The meeting of the Phidian Art club held with Mrs. M.H. Vail Tuesday afternoon was one of the best in this year's programs, each number itself being a treat.

Miss Catherine Stebbins gave a double instrumental number "The Butterfly," by Lavelle and Waltz in E Flat by Moszkowski and for an encore, "The Joke." Miss Stebbins plays remarkably well for one of her years.

Mrs. Sickels and Miss Rogers are both favorites and the club listened with much pleasure to the two numbers. Mrs. Sickels rendered, "Winter" by Hollaender and "Soft-footed Snow," by Lie, also responding to an encore.

The committee was fortunate in securing Mrs. Kerr of Sterling to give the papers on "Valesquez and Murillo."

Valesquez, who lived and gained his prominence during the reign of Phillip 4th of Spain, was born in 1599. He had the advantage of the best teachers of his time, but was hampered somewhat by the superstitious interference of the church.

He painted in Rome and in Venice and collected choice works of art for the palaces of Spain.

Some of his masterpieces are "Tapestry Weavers," "The Topers" and the various portraits of the king whom he painted many times, especially on horseback.

He was intimately associated with the court for 37 years and died in 1661.

A few years ago Spain celebrated his anniversary to which were sent tributes from all of Europe.

Murillo who was almost contemporary with Valesquez, showed remarkable talent as a boy. He painted and sold pictures in the market place, but his work improved so, that he changed his style to religious works.

He married a woman of noble birth and then associated himself with the Franciscan monks, living eleven years in the convent. One of his noted works is "The Vision of St. Francis."

He died while painting St. Catherine, falling from the scaffolding. He was idolized not only by his own country, but all Europe.

Mrs. Kerr treated her subject in a very entertaining manner.

Mrs. Vail served delicious refreshments after the program.

William D. Selover and Miss Amelia Stern, both of Sterling were married at the parsonage to St. Paul's Lutheran church yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. F. D. Altman officiating. ALBERT L. LEVAN DIED IN COLORADO

FORMER PALMYRA RESIDENT IS CALLED TO FINAL REST—DEATH SUDDEN.

C. F. Grant of Grand Junction, Col., sends us the following clipping regarding the death of Albert Levan, formerly well known in Palmyra, and who had many friends here:

Albert L. Levan, aged 59, died at St. Mary's hospital Wednesday at 7:30 a. m. from intestinal trouble, the attack having come upon him suddenly. He underwent an operation which proved more serious than feared. His death proved a sad blow to his relatives and friends, who are legion.

For 18 years he resided in the Fruit Ridge section, and counted as a strong moral factor in the community. He built a home on the crown of a hill for his family upon coming to this valley from Iowa and cultivated a 20 acre orchard around the eminence from raw land, making it a garden spot. He also assisted in many public works and as a member of the M. E. church proved a loyal worker. His works of good were many and he was always considered of unimpeachable integrity. A man of great gentleness he won many close friends who now mourn his passing.

He was born in Pennsylvania in 1855 and spent his early life in Illinois, moving to Iowa with his family and then to this valley. He is survived by his widow, who is prostrated with grief, two daughters, Addessa and Mrs. E. E. Minekime, and three sons, J. Wilbur, Lloyd and Orville. The funeral will be held at the M. E. church today at 2 p. m., with Rev. J. J. Giblin officiating. The M. W. A., of which he was long a member, will attend in a body. The pall bearers are chosen from his old friends. Burial will be in Odd Fellows cemetery.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Our love increases with the years,
And with the years our wonder grows;
We catch brief glimpses through our tears
Of that great height to which he rose;
More brightly as each dawn appears
The crown his country gave him glows.
More clearly as the years advance
We come to know how well he knew;

How in each trying circumstance
His faith was firm, his vision true;
How that he could not owe to Chance
His place among the splendid few
No future centuries shall dim
His fame or make his merit less,
Nor may the world deny to him
The glory the divine possess;
His name shall be a synonym
For courage, love and faithfulness.

—SAMUEL ELLSWORTH KISER, in Chicago Record Herald

On a winter morning, in fact just 105 years ago this morning, in a mean, poor little log hut down in the state of Kentucky a baby boy was born. Into the cold, miserable world he came to a life that was never to hold much happiness for him, into a life of hunger, hardship and endless toil. But the struggle of Nancy Hanks Lincoln was of vast importance to this nation, for the baby boy she reared was one of the world's heroes who lived to snatch his nation from the fires that would have consumed and destroyed it. This sad-eyed, kindly-spoken Emancipator was well known in Dixon during his life and had many personal friends in this vicinity, a few of whom still live. He has visited Dixon a good many times. Where he was known he was loved, and even the history of the man made him one of the most, if not the most, beloved figures in American history.

HOW TO KEEP THE MONEY HOME.

The Dixon newspapers persistently refuse to carry the advertising matter of mail order houses, in Chicago and elsewhere. Very, very often the Telegraph is offered contracts from these mail order houses, contracts for lots of space at big prices, and the money looks good. We refuse it, as other Dixon papers do, and as all papers that are loyal to their own communities should do. But just the same, the advertising comes in, and it comes in volume. Hundreds and hundreds of dollars worth of catalogues and other advertising matter are distributed among the citizens of Dixon and Lee county monthly, through the mails, and sent direct from the big Chicago firms, as they can distribute it in no other way.

The result of this flood of advertising from the mail order houses is a constant drain of good Lee county dollars to Chicago. These dollars ought to be kept at home and it is this very drain and dribble that makes the sledding rough for local merchants. How can they do it? Advertise themselves.

The mail order people could not get our honest residents to loosen from their coin if they did not hold out more enticing inducements than are offered locally. They may not realize that while they are getting a low price, the quality may not be there, and they do not believe that Dixon merchants can give them as good bargains as they are getting from Chicago. If Dixon merchants would make more effort to bring before the people of this county the fact that they can compete with any house on earth and that there is no comparison between sending good money off to strangers in response to the lure of inspired advertisements and dealing with the men they know, right here at home, where they can inspect the goods before they buy and where they can get satisfaction and their money back if they are not satisfied, beside helping to build up their own community, more of that money could be kept at home.

Some people do not realize that the bigger and more prosperous the town near which they live is, the greater its benefits are to them. A big city boosts property prices inside and out and it makes a better market for all kinds of produce.

Merchants in Dixon know that to compete with the mail order houses they have to sell the best kind of goods at the lowest reasonable prices, and they are too wise to do differently. Do your trading at home and help the home city grow. And you, Mr. Merchant, invest more money in advertising and help yourself as well as Dixon.

LET COUNTY PRISONERS WORK.

The Aurora Beacon-News in commenting editorially on Camp Hope, recently broken up, and in telling of the value the road camp is to a convict, says: "The same thing in a measure applies to our county jail prisoners. The women have asked that the supervisors investigate and if feasible to put the men on road work. It is well worth looking into."

These sentiments were expressed by the Telegraph some weeks ago. County and city prisoners could well be employed on various public improvement work and it would result in physical, mental and moral good to them, as well as a saving to the county. The Lee county board of supervisors might investigate this proposition at their next meeting.

Fishing
By WALT MASON

The winter wanes and soon the rains of Spring will start the grasses, and trees will bud and streams in flood will thunder down the passes. Oh, Spring, sweet Spring, you dear old thing, for which all men are wishing, when we can drill o'er vale and hill, to spend the long day fishing! Spring comes apace and soon the face of earth will smile and chuckle, and dames will say to husbands gay, "To work get down and buckle!" We greet with roars the grist of chores, with psawing and with pishing. We take a pole to some deep hole and spend the long day fishing. Spring is the time when people climb from age clear back to childhood, when each heart burns and throbs and yearns for open air and wildwood. Spring is the joy without alloy, the best the gods are dishing, when we can sneak down to the creek and spend the long day fishing!

:: Tribute To Lincoln ::

Jeremiah Preston, aged father of W. F. Preston, of South Peoria avenue, relates the following incident of Abraham Lincoln:—

"In the spring previous to his nomination for the presidency he made a tour of the New England States, partly to speak, and partly to see his son who was in school at Exeter, N. H. In the course of his trip he spoke at Manchester, N. H., where I then lived. The morning after the address, he was taken by the prominent men of the city to visit the industries of the town and among other places was taken through the works of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Co., then engaged in the manufacture of cotton goods and steam fire engines.

"I was employed at the time by the Amoskeag Co. as foreman and had charge of a gang of men erecting a steamer for the Chicago fire department named 'The Little Giant.' As Mr. Lincoln passed through the town he stopped and talked with the men as candidates do now-a-days. When he came opposite to the engine he stopped suddenly with his eyes fixed on the painted name on the side of the steamer, and seemed to be repeating the name to himself. Then he turned to the men and myself and said, 'Boys, can't you build one and call it 'Old Abe.' We told him we guessed we could, and with a laugh he passed on.

FARM OF 147 ACRES. This farm joins the City of Dixon on the West. Is on the Sterling and Dixon Highway, a hard road which has been designated as a part of the Lincoln Highway. Stone road also on South side of farm. The Sterling & Dixon Interurban Electric Railway runs through the farm. Is only a short distance from Rock River and Adelheid Park joins the farm on the South. City water and electricity for light is now practically at the edge of the farm. This property is ripe for sub-division and a number of beautiful suburban homes have already been built on the opposite side of the Sterling Road. Since the Brown Shoe Company have reopened the Watson Shoe Factory and the State Board has designated Dixon as the home of the New $3,000,000 "Epileptic Colony" there will need to be built many new homes to house the people coming to the City.

This farm is ideal for such homes. The new Loveland school building erected last year is only a few rods from the farm. This property was purchased cheap for cash at a partition suit sale to settle an estate and will be sold to the right parties on liberal terms.

Lincoln's Strange Dream Before His Death

At noon of the day on which Lincoln was shot a cabinet meeting was held, which the president attended, accompanied by General Grant. The meeting was thus described by one of the men who were present—Gideon Welles, secretary of the navy.

"Congratulations were interchanged and earnest inquiry was made whether any information had been received from General Sherman. General Grant, who was expected to remain, said he was expecting hourly to hear from Sherman and had a good deal of anxiety on the subject of the movements of his army.

"The president remarked that news would come soon, and come favorably, he had no doubt, for he had last night his usual dream which had preceded nearly every important event of the war. I inquired the particulars of this remarkable dream. He said it was in my department—it related to the water; that he seemed to be in a singular and indescribable vessel, but always the same, and that he was moving with great rapidity toward a dark and indefinite shore; that he had had this singular dream preceding the firing on "THE NEWS WILL COME," SAID LINCOLN. Sumter, the battles of Bull Run, Antietam, Gettysburg, Stone River, Vicksburg, Wilmington and many other important events of the war.

"General Grant remarked with some emphasis and asperity that Stone River was no victory, that a few such victories would have ruined the country, and he knew of no important results from it. The president said that perhaps he should not altogether agree with him, but whatever might be the facts his singular dream preceded that fight.

"Victory did not always follow his dream, but the event and results were important. He had no doubt that a battle had taken place or was being fought, and Johnston will be beaten, for I had this strange dream again last night. It must relate to Sherman; my thoughts are in that direction, and I know of no other very important event which is likely just now to occur."

HOW LINCOLN AMUSED EX-PRESIDENT VAN BUREN.

IN June, 1842, relates "The Everyday Life of Abraham Lincoln," ex-President Van Buren was journeying through Illinois with a company of friends. When near Springfield they were delayed by bad roads and were compelled to spend the night at Rochester, some miles out. The accommodations at this place were very poor, and a few of the ex-president's Springfield friends proposed to go out to meet him and try to aid in entertaining him. Knowing Lincoln's ability as a talker and story teller, they begged him to go with them and aid in making their guest at the country inn pass the evening as pleasantly as possible. Lincoln, with his usual good nature, went with them and entertained the party for hours with graphic descriptions of western life, anecdotes and witty stories. Judge Peck, who was of the party and a warm friend of the ex-president, says that Lincoln was at his best and declares, "I never passed a more joyous night." There was a constant succession of brilliant anecdotes and funny stories, accompanied by loud laughter, in which Van Buren bore his full share. "He also," says the judge, "gave us incidents and anecdotes of Elisha Williams and other leading members of the New York bar and going back to the days of Hamilton and Burr. Altogether there was a right merry time, and Mr. Van Buren said the only drawback upon his enjoyment was that his sides were sore from laughing at Lincoln's stories for a week thereafter."

CASTILLO'S BAND REPORTED SLAIN

American Embassy Sends Protest to Huerta—Resents Slurs on President Wilson by Newspaper at Mexico City.

Juarez, Mex., Feb. 12.—Maximo Castillo, the bandit responsible for the Cumbre tunnel disaster, has been captured and put to death with six of his followers, according to reports sent to General Villa, rebel leader.

The capture is declared to have been made by a troop of 50 rurales sent out by Villa. They followed the bandit 50 miles into the hills near Pearson and drove him into a cut-ditch with his men. Then, one by one, they picked them off. The dead were buried and the wounded killed, according to the dispatches to General Villa. Castillo wrecked a Mexico Northwestern train by burning part of the big railroad tunnel at El Cumbre, to be revenge on General Villa, who had caused several members of the bandit's family to be put to death.

Embassy Resents Slurs on Wilson. Mexico City, Mexico, Feb. 12.—A strong protest was received at the foreign office from the American embassy regarding the attacks on President Wilson which appeared in El Imparcial recently. The editorials complained of contained offensive references to President Wilson, including such as "Carranzista," "pedagogue" and "execrable, horse-toothed functionary," and others of like character. The action of General Huerta is problematical, although some in the inside circles believe the editor will be reprimanded.

An attempt to rush Mexicans recruited in this city by Huerta's recruiting agents across the river last night brought out four troops of the Fifteenth cavalry to prevent the violation of neutrality. The Huertalists eluded the American troops, but some of them were trapped by rebels, who had waited for them in ambush, and were taken as prisoners to General Villa at Juarez.

Seizes Chihuahua Banks.

Chihuahua, Mexico, Feb. 12.—Local banks which discontinued business several months ago as a result of the chaotic conditions in Mexico are taken over by the state government in a decree issued by Governor Chao. The action was in conformity with an order of General Carranza giving the banks until February 10 to reopen as private institutions.

TO DEPORT "ARMY" LEADER

Action Taken After Inquiry Into the Methods at Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 12.—After investigation of conditions within the American Salvation Army, and its methods of operation, immigration authorities ordered Colonel Cooper, head of the organization in Detroit, to be deported as an undesirable alien. He came here from Canada. He was given until Friday to settle up his affairs and clear out. He promised to go. Several other officers and workers of the army were ordered out of town. The investigation came about through the arrest of Maud Heston. She admitted she was a woman of the streets by night and a passer of the army tambourine by day. She also admitted she brought a girl from Lexington, Ky., to Canada on false pretences.

JURY ACCEPTED AT GORE'S TRIAL

Oklahoma Senator Charged With Criminally Attacking Mrs. Minnie E. Bond.

BOTH LAWYERS BEGIN CASE

Court Rules on Evidence to Be Admitted—Many Depositions Will Be Excluded—Attorney Charges Conspiracy Back of Suit.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Feb. 12.—Seven farmers, two salesmen, a banker, a broker and a grocery man were accepted as a jury to determine the $50,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Minnie E. Bond against United States Senator T. F. Gore. She charges that the Oklahoma senator criminally attacked her while she was a guest at a Washington hotel.

Past Life—Not Vital. Judge George W. Clarke held that the past life of neither the plaintiff nor the defendant was vital to the case, although testimony may be presented to establish the general reputation of either. It is stated that under this ruling a mass of depositions will be excluded.

Ross L. Lillard made the opening statement for the plaintiff. He declared witnesses would testify that Senator Gore attacked Mrs. Bond in a room in which they met at the senator's suggestion to discuss the appointment of Mrs. Bond's husband, Julian Bond, to a federal position, and that in her struggle to free herself Mrs. Bond's glasses were broken. On the following day, the attorney asserted, friends of Senator Gore endeavored to have the matter hushed up and urged Mrs. Bond to leave Washington.

Lawyer Denounces Charges.

In the opening statement for the defense, A. C. Cruce, brother of Governor Cruce of Oklahoma, characterized the charges as a "h-l fired conspiracy." He said he would prove that a certain clique of men had threatened to "get" Gore because of their failure to get certain federal appointments. He said he would prove that Mrs. Bond solicited the appointment with Gore on March 24, and that Gore had told her repeatedly that he had pledged his support to another for the office sought by her husband. He said Gore was led to the hotel room, talked with Mrs. Bond, and as he reached for his cane on the bed Mrs. Bond grabbed his hand and pulled him upon her. When he was in this position the three men were in position to see the occurrence.

U. S. BALL TEAMS SEE POPE

Pontiff Thanks World Tourists for Their Visit.

Rome, Feb. 12.—Pope Pius X. bestowed his blessing upon the members of the world touring Chicago White Sox and the New York Giants during their visit to the Vatican. The party was accompanied by Dr. John Edward Jones, American consul general at Genoa, who has attended President Charles A. Comiskey during his illness. The 70 members of the baseball party were introduced to his holiness by Mgr. Charles A. O'Hern, vice-rector of the American college in Rome. After Mgr. O'Hern had explained to his holiness the national interest taken in baseball in the United States the pope imparted to all the apostolic benediction. He also thanked them for their visit and made a short talk praising the practice of athletics as a means of strengthening the body and also urged the practice of religion to strengthen the soul.

Lincoln's Birthday, February 12

TO most Americans Abraham Lincoln personifies real patriotism; he served his country in a way that seemed to him best; and he gave his best service in the fullest measure. There is no one of us who cannot learn something by considering this heroic man; there is no work of ours, no business of ours, which will not be better done, if we do it with his spirit.

It is possible in our business as it is in every business; to render a real service; and we're trying to do it.

OLD-TIME COLD
CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Three" at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoonful at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

GOOD HOME-MADE IMPLEMENT

Drag, When Properly Weighted, Answers for Roller and Harrow—Puts Soil in Fine Condition.

(By J. W. GRIFFIN.)

This is one of the best home-made implements; not the best made, but the best implement that I ever saw.
I have been a close observer, and have given the greater part of my time in the last thirty years, to the study of farm, labor, improvements, and short cuts in practical farming. Under all conditions, when advisable to use the harrow, this implement comes in at first place. It has been some twelve or thirteen years since I first called attention to the drag and harrow combined. At first I made several with a roller attachment. The roller was hitched to the harrow. But after using this one season, I come to the conclusion that the drag, when properly weighted, answered for the roller.

Drag and Harrow.

Then the sharp teeth of the harrow left the soil in the finest condition possible.

With the accompanying pen drawing, it will hardly be necessary to go into details in regard to making one of these. Although I will give the dimensions of the timbers. For ordinary use, a width of six feet is sufficient. But, on perfectly level, or land that is practically free of trash and stumps or stones, one as long as eight feet can be used to an advantage.

Material required:
Six pieces 1x10-inch plank, 6 feet long, planker.

Two pieces 3x3-inch hard wood, 6 feet long, beams for harrow.

Two pieces 2x6-inch cross beam for harrow, to planker.

Twenty-three pieces five-eighths-inch square harrow teeth, 12 inches long.

Eight one-half-inch bolts, 10 inches
long.

Two one-half-inch bolts 5 inches
long.

Two one-half-inch bolts 7 inches long.
Two 4-inch cleaves.

Two pounds 10 penny nails.

The beams that connect the harrow with the planker is worked on a bolt (at x. x.) which permits the harrow being raised to remove trash.

WATER FOR THE DAIRY COW

Good Tank Heater or Some Other Device Should Be Used During Winter—Helps Milk Yield.

It is very important that the water drunk by the cows giving three or more gallons of milk daily be warmed to about 60 degrees Fahrenheit. Otherwise the cows will not drink as much as they need to keep up a good milk flow. It does not take much ice water to chill a thin-fleshed dairy cow through and through on a cold winter day, especially when she is compelled to walk some distance through the snow or a cutting wind to get to the tank or pond.

Experiments made at the Missouri station show that drinking water is needed in proportion to the milk yield.
That is, a cow giving six gallons of milk a day needs about twice as much water as a cow giving three gallons a day. If the water is too cold to be comfortable if drunk in large quantities, the cow will not drink enough, and as a result will drop considerably in her milk yield.

When Missouri Chief Josephine was giving about 100 pounds of milk each day last winter she drank daily about 31 gallons of water. Imagine how she would have suffered if that had been ice water. It was warmed, however, and Josephine did not chill after drinking.

A good tank heater, or some other device should be used this winter to warm the water for the cows. It will pay.

EGGS EXTREMELY NUTRITIOUS

Contain All the Elements Required for Building Up and Support of the Human Body.

Hens' eggs contain 50 per cent.
water, 16 per cent. protein, 33 per cent. fat.

Ducks' eggs, 46 per cent. water, 17 per cent. protein, 36 per cent. fat.

Goose eggs, 44 per cent. water, 19
per cent. protein, 36 per cent. fat.

Turkeys' eggs, 48 per cent. water,
18 per cent. protein, 33 per cent. fat.

Protein, as is generally known, is the substance that goes to make muscle and blood. Fat, of course, is fuel for running the body-machine. Thus, it will be seen, eggs, though half or nearly half water, are extremely nutritious, containing all the elements required for the building up and support of the human body.

Dairy Calf Often Overlooked.

Many dairymen and farmers fail to appreciate the great importance of spending thought and feed in the development of the dairy calf during the first six months of its life.

Japanese Flower Gifts.

To order a dozen or two of roses or carnations indiscriminately to the telephone, to be delivered in a pasteboard box by a florist's boy, as a gift to a friend, would mean a lack of refinement to a Japanese. In fact, ignorance of flower lore might result in disastrous blunder. If, for example, you sent a purple wistaria, however exquisite in itself, to a bride, she would hardly forgive you, since purple is a color of a bad omen, never to be used on felicitous occasions. On the other hand, you would convey a delicate compliment by sending chrysanthemums, because, on account of their long period of blooming, they signify long life. A penny sent to a friend is a flattering recognition of his distinction, as it is suitable only for those of high rank—Grace H. Bagley in Suburban Life.

Tenements Improved.

Into the homes of the people light and air have penetrated, and they have acquired legal claims. The first census taken under the new tenement house law found 361,000 dark and airless rooms in houses unfit to live in, half of them without any windows at all.
There are still more than 60,000 windowless rooms left in Greater New York; but they are going. When the last of them is gone we shall be able to fight tuberculosis, and win. The dark halls have been lighted. Life in the tenements has been made measurably endurable and safe. Not in the ten years since the new law was passed has a human life been lost by fire in any of the hundred and odd thousand houses for lack of means of escape or other faults in construction.
In the ten years preceding 1894, 256 persons perished in tenement house fires, not counting the firemen who died in efforts to save them.—Jacob
A. Riis, in Century Magazine.

Soldiers Died as Martyrs.

The martyrdom of five French soldiers more than 100 years ago has been recalled by the discovery of their skeletons among some ruins at Amasia, in Egypt, by the French archaeologist, Captain Cortier. The five men who belonged to the army of General Menou, in 1799, at El Arish, were carried off as hostages by the Mamelukes, and the French government forgot to redeem them. The Mamelukes offered to spare the Frenchmen's lives if they would renounce their nationality and accept the Mohammedan faith. All five refused, and their captors accordingly wallied them in alive in five stone cells at Amasia, where they died of hunger and thirst.

New and Old.

"And the new woman? Why, bless you! The new woman is just the old woman in a new bonnet, adjusted more or less to enormous changes in the physical and mental apparatus of the world, learned in new branches, a reader of newspapers and many books full of undigested suggestion, unedifying quotation, and very doubtful assertion. She used to ride on a pillion; now she rides in a motor car, and often drives it herself. Of course she goes faster than she did. So does all the world. She keeps her place in an advancing line—that's all. Her relation to life has not changed, but it would have changed unless she had kept up with the times."—Harper's Magazine.

JOHNNY EVERS BALKS

Ousted Cub Player Is Now Dictator.

Threatens to Join Feds, But National League Magnates Pacify Him.

New York, Feb. 12.—From an involved series of conflicts in the meeting of the National league at the Waldorf Astoria Johnny Evers emerged as the chief figure in baseball warfare.

Points scored by the deposed manager of the Chicago Cubs were so pronounced that the fiery player became a once dictator to the powers of baseball. During the day Evers personally directed movements which brought about these conditions:

The National league voted unanimously to guarantee Evers' salary of $10,000 for four years.

James E. Gaffney of Boston offered $25,000 cash for Evers, but the player balked at any deal which would "help Murphy a postage stamp's worth."

Messrs. Gaffney and Murphy agreed on a trade of "Hub" Perdue, a pitcher, and "Bill" Sweeney, second baseman, for Evers.

Evers demanded that he be permitted to arrange for his own future and that Murphy be obliged to pay cash to him for the Boston players.

James A. Gilmore and Charles W. Houghman of the Federal league offered Evers $40,000 for three years, with $15,000 in cash on signing a contract.

With a distinct decision over Murphy in a verbal bout before the National league to his credit, Evers declared that Governor John K. Tener had been the man of the hour.

"He told me that I would get justice, and thus far I have, but I want Murphy to pay for his treatment of me. It was some satisfaction to see Murphy shown up, but I want more."

"The Federal league has practically recognized me as a free agent, and I can have $15,000 at once and possibly $25,000 for signing."

Evers stated emphatically that he had no grievance against the Boston club or the National league as a whole, and in fact, told President James E. Gaffney of the Boston club that he would rather play with that team than the Federals.

EVELYN NESBIT THAW FREED

Actress, Arrested for Appearing in Richmond, Va., Theater.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 12.—Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw was formally placed under arrest just after finishing her participation in the first act of the matinee. The warrant was issued on complaint of Chief of Police Weiner, and it charged that she did "unlawfully but not feloniously" appear at the theater in a public performance, thereby "outraging public decency and to the detriment of public morals and common nuisance of all the citizens of this commonwealth." Justice Critchfield, after hearing testimony, ordered the charges dismissed and Mrs. Thaw released.

ELECTRICAL WELDING.

Modern stove manufacturers have hit on a plan of joining steel plates together without riveting them. It is done nowadays by welding, and the welding is done with an electric current.

Like a good many other inventions, this was dictated, if not by necessity, at least by high expediency. Riveting was never satisfactory in the making of stoves. Rivets were responsible for countless flaws. The metal at times cracked and broke. There was the problem of unequal expansion and contraction to be considered. No manufacturer was able to tell exactly what his stove was going to do when it had a real test—a genuine trial by fire. Sometimes it worked all right. Oftener it didn't. The plates would buckle and bend. There would be vents and fissures. It was often unsanitary, unsightly and unsatisfactory.

It meant selling a stove that might work and might not and some manufacturers took the consumer's good cash and used it to make more stoves, that might work and might not, and were happy.

Here and there, however, was a manufacturer who was not happy, who wanted to give the public a stove free from the defects that had been riveted into all stoves for the last half century. They had spent brains and money and energy in stove making, and they were not quite satisfied with the product.

So they put in more brains and money and energy, and one day a man rigged up an electric welding machine—a "spot welder," as he called it—and it worked!

The machine has been the subject of a number of highly technical and scientific papers by highly technical and scientific men, and is considered a distinct step forward.

In the simplest and most unscientific terms, however, it may be said to consist of superimposed copper "poles" heavily charged with electricity. The sheets to be welded are to be passed between them. At intervals of an inch or so a workman touches a lever. There is a little flash, a spark, and the thing is done. A perfect union has been formed. The two pieces, or two ends, as the case may be, have become one piece of metal.

The device, which shows one more of the manifold uses of electricity, is the invention of the Globe Stove and Range Company of Kokomo, Ind.

E. N. Howell Hdw. Co., Dixon, Ill., have the exclusive agency for the Globe line and will welcome an opportunity to give you further particulars and show you how metal sheets are electrically joined together.
